

Scorpio SUV, Mahindra PikUp conquer the Peruvian jungles

In a strong display of their tough and rugged character, yet again, the Scorpio SUV and Mahindra PikUp roughed it out in the jungles of Peru in an Off-Roading Competition, which saw participation from tough competitors like Toyota Hilux, Mitsubishi L200, Nissan Frontier and Grand Cherokee.

The jungle route was 1500km long, of which 411 km was a rough terrain consisting of gravel, mud, rivers and bumpy roads and the rest was asphalt. Battling altitudes as high as 4800 m above sea level and extreme temperatures ranging from 12°C to 32°C, the Mahindra vehicles continued to impress and surprise the drivers with their tenacious, 'bring-on-anything' attitude and performance.

A terrain where other competitors suffered from broken shock absorbers and suspension bushings, the PikUp and the SUV, carried on without a hitch. After this display of strength of character, it seems that the Mahindra vehicles are on a global march towards establishing their off-road capabilities !

Images from the event –

